

DATE: September 15, 1989
CONTACT: Susan Berman, VP-corporate communications; Pauline Little, public relations coordinator; or Michael B. Whiteman, senior vice president and director of sales

For Immediate Release

SHELDON GOOD & COMPANY EXECUTIVES ADDRESS U.S. LEAGUE OF SAVINGS - SPONSORED RESOLUTION TRUST CORP. CONFERENCES IN LA, CHICAGO, DC AND ATLANTA; DISCUSS REAL ESTATE AUCTIONS

CHICAGO -- Three principals of Chicago-based Sheldon Good & Company -- Sheldon F. Good, chief executive officer, Steven L. Good, president, and Gordon J. Greene, president of the firm's real estate auctions affiliate -- recently addressed 3,000 savings institution executives attending the U.S. League of Savings Institutions - sponsored conferences around the nation. The Good & Company executives discussed "Real Estate Auctions as an Appraisal Technique in a Changing Market."

The U.S. League conferences on the new Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery & Enforcement Act (FIRREA) took place in Los Angeles, Chicago, Washington, DC, and Atlanta, GA. They were designed as educational forums to explain the new legislation and its impact on the lending and real estate investment industries, as well as to define the role of the newly-created Resolution Trust Corporation (RTC).

Good & Company, a Chicago-based national real estate marketing, auction and consulting firm, is the largest auction firm in the U.S. that exclusively conducts real estate auctions. In addition to Chicago, it maintains offices in New York, Los Angeles, San Antonio, Dallas, Houston, Phoenix, Ft. Lauderdale and Denver.

###